

BURR TRAIL IN GRAND STAIRCASE-ESCALANTE NATIONAL MONUMENT AND GRAND WASH IN CAPITOL REEF NATIONAL PARK

The Burr Trail goes from Boulder to the Notom-Bullfrog Road, which can be followed to Capitol Reef.

Entrance to “Long Canyon Slot” on the Burr Trail:

This is a tall but very short slot, which ends at the impasse in the photo below:

Looking back out of the slot:

View from near the Long Canyon Overlook on the Burr Trail:

View towards the Muley Twist Canyon area:

Looking up the road into upper Muley Twist Canyon, from where the trail register is:

We climbed up on a sandstone rock and got a view of an arch as well as part of the Burr Trail:

Zooming in on Peekaboo Arch:

Looking down the Burr Trail Switchbacks:

The Burr Trail Switchbacks go up the cliff seen in the center of the photo:

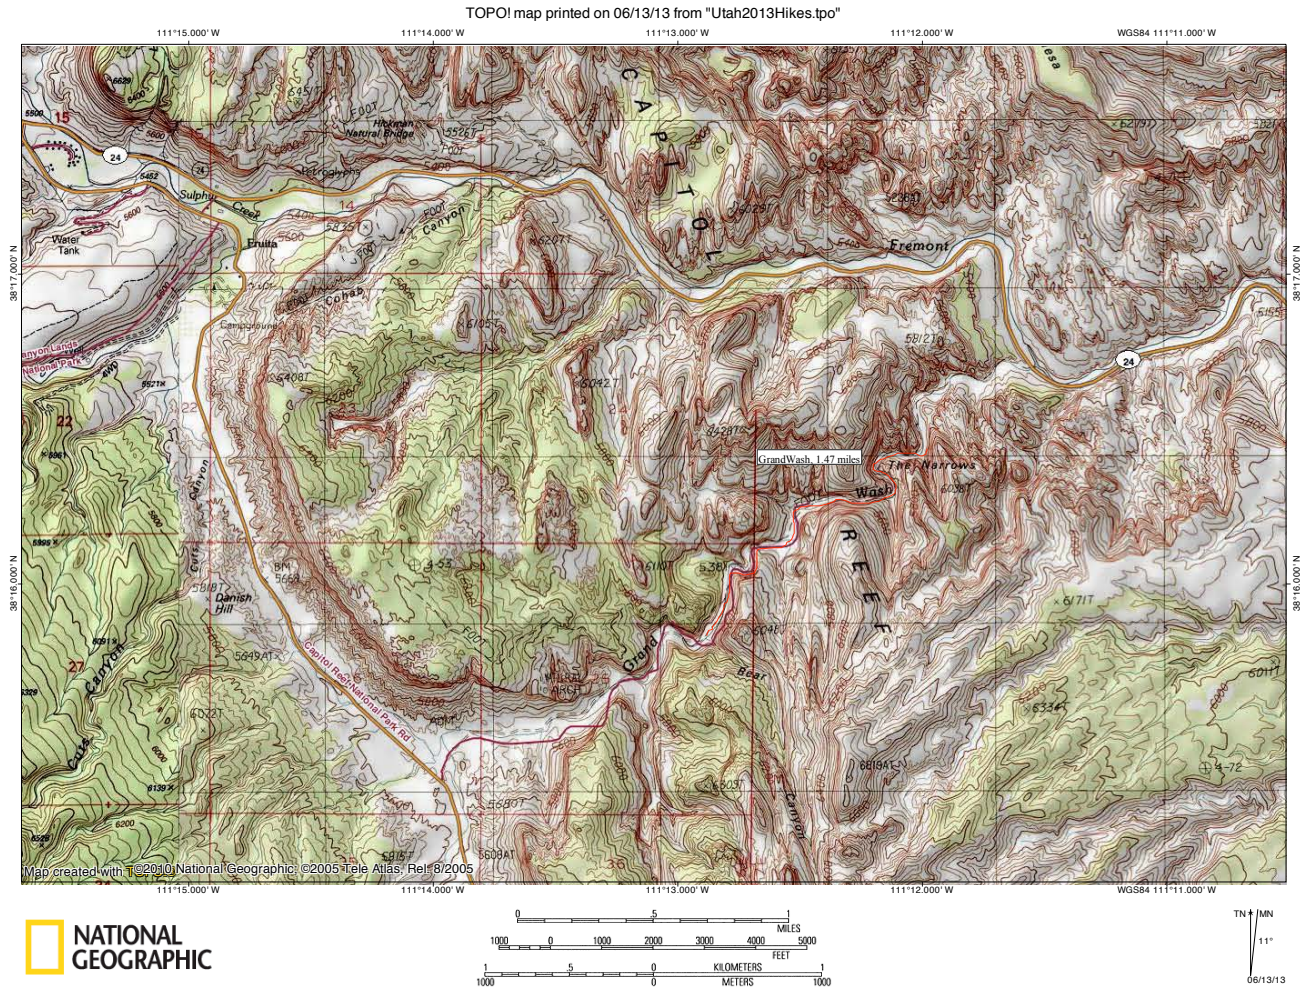

Interesting-looking slot along the Notom-Bullfrog road:

Green fields as we approach Notom:

From here, we headed to Capitol Reef to check out Grand Wash (from the western end). TOPO map of this area:

Nice colors in a narrower stretch of the canyon:

Tall walls in this canyon:

The next four photos show the narrowest section of this canyon:

Typical view in the upper part of this canyon:

Panoramas from two different viewpoints we stopped at on the way back to Boulder:

